

The Center for Historical Research at
The Ohio State University
2015-2016 Program

Family, Kinship, and Households: New Perspectives

All the lectures in the 2015-2016 CHR Series will be held at 11:30-1:00 in Dulles 168.

- October 9: Mary Jo Maynes and Ann Waltner, University of Minnesota:
“Family History and World History”
- November 6: Heidi Morrison, University of Wisconsin-La Crosse:
“New Approaches to the History of Childhood: Going Global”
- December 4: Nara Milanich, Barnard College:
“The Birth of Uncertainty: A Social, Cultural and Political History of Paternity Testing”
- December 11: “New Approaches to the History of Family, Kinship and Household:
A Roundtable Discussion”
- January 15: Carrie Schroeder, University of the Pacific:
“Monks and Their Children: Family and Familial Renunciation in Late Antique Egypt”
- February 5: Marcia Inhorn, Yale University:
“The New Arab Man: Emergent Masculinities, Reproductive Technologies, and Islam in the Middle East”
- February 26: Tsianina Lomawaima, Arizona State University:
“Federal Indian Boarding Schools as Frankenstein’s Laboratory: Remaking American Indian Children”
- March 11: Nick Abbott, University of Wisconsin-Madison and CHR Fellow:
“States, Sarkars, and Sovereignty: Political Ideology and the Limits of the Family in Early-Colonial North India.”
- April 1: Karen Vallgarda, University of Copenhagen, Denmark:
“Childhood and the Global Politics of Emotions”
- April 22: “Thinking About Families and Kinship: A Roundtable Discussion”

Further information regarding the 2015-2017 Program, and the Center for Historical Research, can be found at <http://chr.osu.edu/program/2015-2017>